

8.30	7.10
8.20	7.00
8.10	6.50
8.00	6.40
7.50	6.30
7.40	6.20
7.30	6.10
7.20	6.00

every night. 1.00 P.M.
 P.M. Collection from at day afterwards.

ARRIVE.

A.M.	P.M.	P.M.
8.30	11.00	8.30
7.15	7.15
7.05	7.05
6.55	6.55
6.45	6.45
6.35	6.35
6.25	6.25
6.15	6.15
6.05	6.05
5.55	5.55
5.45	5.45
5.35	5.35
5.25	5.25
5.15	5.15
5.05	5.05
4.55	4.55
4.45	4.45
4.35	4.35
4.25	4.25
4.15	4.15
4.05	4.05
3.55	3.55
3.45	3.45
3.35	3.35
3.25	3.25
3.15	3.15
3.05	3.05
2.55	2.55
2.45	2.45
2.35	2.35
2.25	2.25
2.15	2.15
2.05	2.05
1.55	1.55
1.45	1.45
1.35	1.35
1.25	1.25
1.15	1.15
1.05	1.05
0.55	0.55
0.45	0.45
0.35	0.35
0.25	0.25
0.15	0.15
0.05	0.05

REMARKS.

by cartons when number. People should of above and have highly dress at the General of letters and bags to see the street and make of street more than it make. Carriers make and
 and creating and 13 to 5 P. M., Sunday will be open for to 9 A. M., and from 1 P. M. to 5 P. M. carrier's department
 and

to the assistance of delivery agents, or local letters from the office is allowed
 persons will please pass on the following morning are to be made for printing and across the top of the envelope furnished by samples of which a specimen when order
 is sent to the printer.
 The letter in the center,
 and the back, written or printed, post office and the envelope, on the left side.
 It is recommended to the printer, and letters that are not addressed, the
 of charge.
 The envelope at $1.50
 per 100.
 The printer's
 of the printer.
 The printer's
 of the printer.

THE TRAVELER'S INSURANCE COMPANY.
LIFE DEPARTMENT
Term. Annuity Bond
 Costs less than One-Half of Ordinary Life Insurance Rates.
 For information apply to
S. SCHEARZSCHEIDT,
 STATE AGENT FOR MAINE AND PROVINCE NEW BRUNSWICK, Casco National Bank Building, - - Portland, Me.
 Jan 1

HOW IS THIS?
 Our experiment in advertising our new store by selling goods cheaply for the past THIRTY DAYS has been so successful that we have decided to continue to sell during the Holidays and the month of January as follows:
 Granulated Sugar, 6 1/2 cts. per lb.; Fine Ondara Raisins, 12 cts. per lb.
 Pounce Powder, 50 cts. per lb.; Assorted Molasses for 40c.;
 Kerosene Oil, 160 cts. per 10 c.; Barrel of Good Flour for $5.00.
 In addition to the above we have added a full line of TEAS that were bought at Great Clearance Sale in Boston, which we will sell at a sacrifice.
 OOLONG TEA, 25 cts. per pound.
 MATCH TEA, 25 cts. per pound.
 Quality of Goods Guaranteed.
 Don't fail to see our display of Indian Baskets: Work both in Birch and wood. Best ever in Bangor.
 N. B. We wish the people of Bangor and vicinity to know that we carry a full line of COMMON as well as FANCY GROCERIES at the lowest cash prices and are prepared to deliver goods promptly to all parts of the city.
F. W. SAVAGE, - - 5 Hammond St.
 One Door Above Warren's Drug Store. Jan 1 to Feb 1

THE FIRST SPINACH OF THE SEASON,
—AT—
Fickett & Nason's Market.
Also Boston Lettuce, Celery, Fresh Tongues, —AND THE—
Original South Down Mutton,
From Faneuil Hall Market, Boston.
Fresh Turkeys, Ducks and Chickens in Abundance.
Boston, Bangor, Parker House and Jeer Feet Farm Sausage, at FICKETT & NASON'S
10 West Market Square.

JANUARY
1891.

S S T E C O - F O R B A P P L S

As we have now completed our Stock Inventory we desire to close out all "O Lots and Patterns we cannot duplicate. This work we would call special attention out:

Drapery Department

from which we will sell Heavy Portieres and Silk Curtain at less than factory cost, not old designs but small lots which must move to make room for the new goods to arrive later.

A. H. ROBERTS & SON

NO. 7 Main Street.

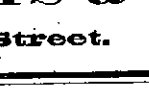

Jan 8 cont

El's Cream Saltn For

CATARRH

THE POSITIVE CURE.

ELLY BROTHERS, 60 Warren St., New York. Price 50 cts.

We make in Mahogany, Cherry, Quartered Oak, Ash or White wood. It is very handsome, the carving being Hand Work and its workmanship in every respect guaranteed. We carry many different styles in stock and can make size or architect's designs to order. Also Mouldings and Built-in Trimmings of all kinds.

Horse & Jones

AND ALL OTHER CORNERS
1500.

AM AND ENGLAND.
Including printed
as, prime, coverings,
and all other goods
samples of merchandise,
as follows:

1 coat	1 coat
2 ounces.....	2 ounces.....
3 ounces.....	3 ounces.....
4 ounces.....	4 ounces.....
5 ounces.....	5 ounces.....

1
2
3
4
5

Millinery Marked Down!
A large lot of good durable shapes in hats reduced to 35 and 40 cents; former 75 cents and $1.00. Colored Velvets 5 Shells, Flaid, &c., for 50, 37 and 25 cents.
may price 75, 50 and 37 cents.
Children's bonnets in all colors for $1.50, former price $2.50 and $1.25.

10 Main St. T. B. COBB
Jan 5 94

SUD DEN WEALTH
ON ONE $2.50 OF BOYS BLOOD SKEIN
for we make the price of the above living it, and we know it is the best for the people who know it, so we know it is the best for the people who know it.

Has been known to many men, and being the best for many men, and can't slowly. There's no way to it.

FOR LATEST EMPLOYMENT SEE THIRD PAGE.

QUESTIONS IN DISPUTE.

The Behring Sea Controversy Before the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. The Behring Sea sealers' controversy came up in the United States Supreme Court today, on motion which has in view a judicial determination of the dispute between the United States and Great Britain over the seal fisheries.

Joseph H. Choate, in behalf of Thomas Heard Coombs, owner of the British schooner W. P. Sayward, which was seized in the waters of Behring Sea by the revenue cutters, petitioned the court for writ of prohibition, to be directed to the judge of the District Court of the United States for the Territory of Alaska, restraining him

IMPORTANT

Examination of Merrimack River Water for Typhoid Germs.

LOWELL, Mass., Jan. 13. Prof. Sedgwick, professor of biology at the Institute of Technology at Boston, has been making microscopic examination of the Merrimack water for the Water Board, to see if any typhoid germs are in it.

He hasn't found any yet in the water above Lowell, but finds the water below the city filled. He says it is his official report to-day that there is no typhoid in the water, but that it will be well to boil the water fifteen minutes before using.

He has discovered typhoid fever in West Chelmsford, which is above the Lowell water works, and he says that "it may have caused a spread of the disease to Lowell, and Lowell in turn may have given the disease to Lawrence through the sewage, which gets into the Lawrence water supply. The order of the State Board of Health to the Lawrence people not to use the los cut in the river may af-

BREWER LOCALS.

Mr. H. T. Sparks left last evening for a business trip to Philadelphia.

Capt. Stowers, of Sandy Point, is visiting for a few days at the residence of Rev. B. Merrill.

The many friends of Miss Alice Hodgkins will regret to learn that she is quite seriously ill at her home in this city.

Manley Hardy, Esq., left yesterday for Portland, where he was to attend the lecture last evening by the celebrated orator, Henry M. Stanley.

Mr. S. D. Leach, who has been confined to his bed for several weeks by a severe attack of rheumatism, was able to be out yesterday and attend to work.

Yesterday was a beautiful day for the shoe dealers and they turned many an honest penny in fitting out our citizens with rubber boots and shoes, to protect them from the winter weather.

Calla. Charles Treats is asked for Mr. G. C.

from proceeding with the condemnation and sale of the vessel.

The subject to have the court take up and pass upon the question of jurisdiction over these waters, on which the Chief Justice made an order giving the Attorney General two weeks to file an answer to the brief of Mr. Choate, giving reasons, if any, why the petition should not be granted.

WENT INTO THE RIVER.

Passenger Train Goes Through a Bridge.

HARTFORD, Conn., Jan. 12. A passenger train on the Meriden, Waterbury & Connecticut River railroad ran off a bridge near Cromwell early this morning. The engine and baggage car went down and broke through the ice and lands the river. The conductor was almost drowned and several passengers were injured.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Heavy Tax Imposed.

LONDON, Jan. 13. The British Minister at Buenos Ayres has informed the foreign office that the Government of that country has been imposed upon foreign companies doing business in the Argentine Republic. Foreign interests and companies must pay $20,000 per year as license fees and must deposit a guarantee of $200,000 in the hands of the government.

Raided Death.

PARIS, Jan. 12. Baron George Eugene Haenssens died suddenly last evening. He was appointed Prefect of the Seine by Napoleon and under his direction Paris was almost transformed into a new city.

Charged with Bad Shape.

GLASGOW, Jan. 13. The railway is no material threat to the railroad strike. The Caledonian Railroad is now fully manned with new men. The North British Rail-Parrington was confined to the house yesterday with a severe cold and his place was taken until he should get better by Mr. Herbert Hopkins.

II. C. Snow Esq., and wife leave to-day for Augusta to be present at the session of the State Legislature, which convenes this morning. Mrs. Snow will remain in Augusta with her husband throughout the session.

Mrs. Margaret Cooks, of this city, and a student in Smith College, Northampton, Mass., has obtained a position as teacher in the Grammar School of Ansonia, Conn., and will probably remain there until next fall. Her many friends will be glad to hear of her success.

The annual parish meeting of the First Congregational Society, which was called for last evening, had to be postponed owing to the absence of several members of the passengers were hurt.

SNOW A BENEFIT

Blizzard Raging in Southern Illinois.—Good for Wheat.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13. A blizzard raged all day Sunday in the southern portion of the State. It has seen very dry for some time in that section and the snow will be great benefit, especially to the wheat crop.

CRUSHED BY AN AVALANCHE

Many Persons Killed and Horses Destroyed.

PARIS, Jan. 12. Dr. Charles K. D. Tanner, M. P., has notified Parliament that he will bring suit against him for damages, basing his claim on alleged libellous language attributed to Parnell when referring to Tanner during the course of his Rilkenny speeches.

REPORTS DENIED.

LONDON, Jan. 12. Sir Wm. Vernon Harcourt writes that the reports published in the London newspapers of the dissenting ex-communication among the leaders of the Liberal party are without foundation. Gladstone's colleagues, he says, have no differences in their chief and are in cordial co-operation with each other.

IN REGARD TO SOCIALISM.

LONDON, Jan. 12. In an interview regarding the article published in the St. James Gazette in which Cardinal Manning who were out at dawn, it was said that on Friday evening, at seven o'clock, the church.

The no-school signals were sounded yesterday morning and again at noon, so that there was no session of the city schools throughout the day. It was a very disagreeable day for anyone to be out in, much less scho who would have to sit in wet clothing throughout the session.

A dance for the benefit of John Gough's "The Young Men's Christian Association of the Smith Plains," is to be given to take place in this city. The generous-hearted citizens of Brewer are subscribing liberally and it is hoped that quite a sum may be realized to give him a little respite in his disability.

The annual meeting of the Smith Plains

VIENNA, Jan. 12. A number of Houses at Vienna, Bosnia, were recently crushed by an avalanche from the mountains and the bodies of many persons were killed. The bodies have been taken from the ruins thus far.

COLD AND FOGGY.
Bad Weather in England and on the Continent.
LONDON, Jan. 12. Intensely cold weather continues to prevail throughout England. In addition to this dense fogs are general, and there has been a heavy fall of snow. The Continent is still suffering from severe snow storms.

NAUTICAL INTELLIGENCE.
Two New Lost on a Schooner.
GLOUCESTER, Mass., Jan. 12. The schooner Monitor, from the Banks, reports speaking the schooner Nellie G. Thurston, and had just lost two of her crew by the capsizing of a dory.

was conducted as a club, and the following letter written by him to the publication the Prelato says the whole of our legislation is essentially social for the protection of the people against the abuses of the property class, initiating the supreme power to change, reform, reject and even create the foundation and principles of human society, which is of divine origin, is essentially destructive and revolutionary. Socialism denounces social evils with social means, and it has the patient care of his maladies. Social laws founded upon the first principles of human society as a basis, and which nothing wrong is not socialism by any means.

Business Items.
Bechman's Pills cure Sick-Headache. 4
Augustus Bittler, the celebrated operator, of experience, will use all over the world. Dr. J. G. B. Siegert & Sons, manufacturers of America. Ask your druggists.

ing Mill Company was held at their office in the following officers elected for the coming year: President, J. E. P. Farrington; Treasurer, S. H. Woodbury; Superintendent, J. H. Smith; Directors, J. F. Woodbury, E. H. Woodbury, E. F. Farrington, W. W. Deane, J. H. Smith.

Brewer Lodge, A. O. U. W. have decided to give their social and entertainment on next Thursday evening and the committee having the matter in charge intend that such be one of the best in the history of the lodge. The entertainment will be given before supper is served and it is expected that the Apollo Quartette at Mrs. J. W. Donigan, the elocutionist will take part. There will doubtless be a large attendance of the members and friends of the order.

A DOUBTFUL MORN

To Make an Attempt at Foulplay Capital

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13. In the House today Mr. Blanchard, of Louisiana, offered for reference the following resolution:

Resolved, That the House do inquire into and ascertain if disposed persons have, within the territory and jurisdiction of the State of Louisiana, been unlawfully and without authority of law, arrested, detained, imprisoned or shown of force, recently set on foot and carried into execution plans by which the will of the people, as legally expressed in the polls at the last election, has been set aside and the government of the State subverted; and

That if these alleged unlawful and revolutionary proceedings involve the title to office of the chief magistrate of the State and of the United States Senatorship.

Resolved, that the Committee on Judiciary of this House do inquire into the facts and circumstances of the present political condition of the State of New Hampshire, with a view to the removal of the present administration.

NEW MORN may find sweet smelling and a source of hopes, but not one so profitable, as in sure for life with a bottle of Adair's Botanic Gout Balsam.

Adair's Botanic Gout Balsam

Just received at G. T. Hall, Edinburg Bend, Texas

Monday evening, January 10th, 1891

DANCE at all who come.

WHAT A CHANGE

Is wrought in people who suffer from rheumatism when they take Adair's Botanic Gout Balsam. The blood, which causes the disease, is neutralized, the blood is purified and vitalized, the aching joints are relieved, the system is invigorated and a feeling of serene health is imparted.

Wood's Sarsaparilla has accomplished wonders in these cases subject to rheumatism.

Write for a sample.

So many have been cured of rheumatism by Wood's Sarsaparilla that we urge

INSTALLATION OF THE GROVE GRANGE

A large number were present. The Grange held its annual meeting and the public installation of the officers of the Grove Grange. An excellent supper was served and the officers were installed. State Deputy B. A. Burr, as follows:

Master, Charles H. Dole; Overseer, Frank J. Barrington; Lecturer, Mrs. Joseph Holyoke; Steward, Horace F. Green; Secretary, Steward Leonard; Treasurer, John, Joseph D. French; Transfers, David Wilson; Secretary, Addis L. Emerson; Gate Keeper, Sam H. Deering; Monitor, Cora Holyoke; Florist, Mary Scribner; Cere, Clara J. Pierce; Lady Assistant, Steward, Florence Welch. Following the installation ceremonies a pleasing entertainment was given.

A MARY DART

A MARY DART. Ten-day was an old-fashioned, sensible, but not of the to determining whether or not the government exists there, in the meaning and intent of the constitution of the United States.

OFFER BY HANLAN

To Row O'Connor for $1,000.

TORONTO, Ont., Jan. 12. Haalan, the organism, offers to row O'Connor's race on Toronto bay for $1,000. The offer has been made by Haalan, who lives at 100 St. George Street, between Dundas and Gaudaur. Hanlan says that O'Connor will be the favorite in that race.

A GALLANT RESCUE.

Crew of a Vessel Taken Off in a Storm.

Lynn Mass., Jan. 12. The Boston pilot boat No. 6, Lawler, was taken off in a storm last night at 5.38 this morning. Guns were fired and rockets thrown. Allan Hay responded with a life boat and bore off the crew.

The pilot boat Lawler was pulled off by a tug this morning and started for Boston.

all who suffer from the disease to try this medicine.

DO YOU COUGH?

Don't delay. If you cough Balsam, the best cough cure. It will cure your coughs and colds. It will cure sore throat or hoarseness in the throat. It will cure the chest. It will cure influenza and bronchitis and all diseases pertaining to the lungs. It will cure asthma, whooping cough, croup, and all other ailments which lead to the light and ease how clear and thick it is. You will see the excellent effect after taking the first dose. Large cans 50 Cts. and 90 Cts.

TS&Wetb615

REAL BALSAM IS KEMP'S BALSAM.

(The dictionary says, "A balsam is a "thick, pure, aromatic substance flowing from trees." Kemp's Balsam is such a substance. It is the only cough medicine that is a real balsam. Many thin, watery cough remedies are called balsams, but they are not.) Kemp's Balsam is the only Balsam that is a real Balsam. Notice what a pure, thick preparation it is. If you could see it, you would know it is a real Balsam.

preferable than a walk in the open air where one had to pick his way with an utmost care, now over places where he made it dangerous, and again through mud and water, where, if he were not the possessor of a pair of rubber boots, he would have been in great extremities, and form a Foundation for a severe cold.
And all the useful umbrellas he had been held, so that it would shroud one from the rain and at the same time should be turned wrong side up by the strong wind which was blowing. During the forenoon the rain stopped falling for time many hours without rain. But the storm came on once more. From the water, which the sheet of water poured overflowing gutters the disterns in Bremust all be full this morning.

INTER-STATE COMMERCE.
Several Changes Recommended to the Law.—WASHINGTON, JAN. 12. The Committee on Inter-State Commerce of the Senate has agreed to report favorably to the Senate a bill modifying the anti-pooling section of the Inter-State Commerce act, so as to permit railroads to make contracts, which shall be binding, to apportion among them the transportation of freight and passengers.

The committee also agreed upon an amendment providing for through rates and through fares, and for the right to enter into an early consideration in the Senate.

RAILROADS WYOM.
An Amendment to the Way.—KANSAAS CITY, MO., JAN. 12. It is stated that the terms of agreement of the Western Traffic Association cannot be made until the question of the distance between Kansas City and St. Louis is settled.

FACTS WORTH KNOWING.
In all diseases of the nasal mucous membrane the remedy used must be non-irritating. The medical profession has been slow to learn this. Nothing satisfactory can be accomplished with powders, snuffs, powders or syringes, because these are all irritating, do not thoroughly reach the affected surfaces and should be abandoned for the use of a remedy of the kind of persons who had for years borne all the City Government Meeting.

The meeting of the City Government, adjourned from a week ago, was held last night with His Honor Mayor Sargent in the chair.

Ordinary relative to contracts was passed to be engrossed.

Notice of Perchance Wood and W. C. Company of petition to Legislature for ratification of their acts, read and referred to City Solicitor.

Report of City Solicitor on the petition of Centre, Berton and Oak street front on Weston street, that it is more dispuit as to the river from Oak street and on Centre street the result of the laying out of the street is not found.

[illegible]

the city, the Street Commissioner and the members of the Board. It was voted to leave the matter in the hands of the Commissioner on Streets.

Adjusted to Monday evening, 26th inst. until 7:30 o'clock.

THE MAGAZINES.

What the January Numbers contain.

The January FORUM opens with a review of the colonization and division of Africa down to date, and accompanied with maps and illustrations. It follows with a record of the most gigantic work of colonization ever undertaken, and its influence on the future of civilization cannot yet be reckoned. Mr. Thomas G. Shearnman writes an essay on "The Republics of Brazil, Bolivia, Ecuador, Peru, of Livingston College, N. C., Chase a colored man, discuss the question of the color of the skin, and the color of the whites. The biographical essay relied upon. The Road Movement, an article by Lewis M. Haupp. C. 24, contains some valuable suggestions for the much-needed improvement of our roads. Frederic M. Bird contributes a just and appreciative review of Mrs. Amelia E. Barr's popular novel, Frivolous. The poets represented in this number are Edwin E. Ransom, Carlisle Fiske Talcott, and Daniel L. Dawson.

"The figure that was not to be, No," says Mr. Percival Lowell, in his paper on Noto: An Unexplored Corner of Japan; and where Noto is, and how we there, is not only the subject of the opening article, in the January ATLANTIC, but is to be the subject of a longer article, which will follow. Cleveland Abbe's paper, which will command attention, suggests A New University Course, this course to be devoted to every physical science, and the attainment of instruction. As for the House of Martha, that clustered establishment, which has been the subject of so much discussion, to listen to the dictation of a love-story under the aphorism that it is the most important of the human sciences, for the foregone. Mr. Charles Worcester Clark writes about Compulsory Arithmetic.

SCROFULA

Is that impurity of the blood which produces scintillating humors or swellings in the neck, throat, chest, or limbs, arising from the humors, or that develops ulcers in the nose, ears, or nose, often causes blindness, deafness, and the eruptions of pimples, cancerous growths, or "bumors," which, fastening upon the lungs, engender consumption and death? It is the most cruel and distressing, and very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED?

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished, has become the most famous and reliable medicine for this disease. If you suffer from scrofula, try Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Every physician who has seen children have been troubled with scrofula, my little boy three years old, being a terrible sufferer from it. He was covered with eruptions, and his head too. We all took Hood's Sarsaparilla, and all have been cured of the scrofula. My little boy is much free from sores, and all the work of children look bright and healthy." Wm. B. HARRINGTON, Passaic City, N. J.

The month's first Reading, however, is also the point at which the relative value changes from "his point of view of the commercial life and of the life of a teacher." After that point, after showing the inadequacy of marriage in certain ways, argues the necessity of maintaining it as the very preservation of society. The Rev. Charles Davis Boardman, of Philadelphia, writes of "Conservative Progress" in church, in politics, and in society. W. S. S. discusses the nature of real liberty which must be subject to law; Edmund Gosse writes of the future of poetry and of the great arts; Mr. Geo. Smith shows how the construction and service of railways might be improved and even revolutionized; and Mr. John D. Champlin, Jr. writes about the increasing American habit of manufacturing success.

The first installment of the selections from Talcott's long expected Memoirs is the most striking feature of the January CENTURY. A sketch of Talcott's early life Whitwell Allen prefaces the installment. Before plunging into the Gold

Good's Sarsaparilla
Sold by druggists, 25 cents for Prepared
Purely Vegetable. Ask for HARRIS' Good's
100 Doses One Dollar.

IN HARRIS' MUFFIN & CO. for January, Charles Dudley Warner, in a paper of great practical value, describes The Outlook in Southern California. This is very popular series of articles on South America as resumed by Mr. Child in this number, giving his Impressions of Peru. This paper is also profusely illustrated. F.

[illegible]

The January Century is a portrait of the Schilling family, which was painted by Keaton Cox. Mr. Coffin, the artist and writer, writes a sketch of Keaton's life.

Other pictures in this number by C. W. Coleman's descriptions of the fine old mansions along the Lower James, with a number of picturesque illustrations by Harry Penn. Octave de St. Armand tells us the story of an Irish Gentleman-in the Pamplona Times of 1847-8. Mr. Rockhill, who "lived at the top of the world," describes the Azure Lake. Mr. Krehbiel, the musical critic of the New York Tribune, has an article with James M. Smith, Colonel Carter of Carverville, by Hopkinson Smith, and William Allen. Sister Dolores are outlined. The countesses in Maiden Lane are described by George A. Hibbard. Nanette's Career by Viola Roseboro' and At the Town Fair by Miss Carpenter.

George William Curtis discusses upon owners and upon the ethics of clubbing, and comments upon the people of the South. He also tells us about the drop-out of the female mind. Willard Dean Howells reviews some new books, and makes a few remarks on the state of literature. Charles Dudley Warner gives information to a train of thought suggested by the title of the fiction of the day reforming the world.

Taking up the JANUARY WINE AWAKE one is led to reflect that this magazine has a particularly happy and kindly way of eliciting the interest and the fancy of its readers by its Prize Competitions. Its amusing Nonsense Animals were enjoyed by young and old and showed that the drawing-school at school had really trained good fingers. The contest for the Heroic Poem, the Robin Pig, or Hero competition was not a bad course in Moral

My wife has been taken DANAS'S SLEAZE-A-RAMA and she has been helped by me more than any other medicine she ever took; so easier it is a wonderful remedy.

It does what we claim or more you nothing. Could we make you a fairer offer? Try bottle now.

Dana Sarasparilla Co., Belfast,

The January issue of the ECRECHT Magazine contains a steel engraving of Alessandro and a fine table of contents. Professor Huxley contributes a paper on Pre-Historic Man, which students will find profitable in reading. Mr. H. H. Johnston discusses the Development of Tropical Africa under British Aspects, a subject of timely interest. Ouida talks of Modern Florence, and Mrs. Lynn Linton has something to say about social conditions under the lid of Modern Tokyo-Vereywood. The article on Customs, by Sir Herbert Maxwell, is entertaining and suggestive. The humorous article, "Wey-Sea Fish," is really by that entertaining writer, Grant Allen. Another popular scientific treatise is by J. W. Nicholson, F.R.S.E., and a very interesting paper on the Science of Old Age, by Dr. Schofield, tells how life may be greatly prolonged by simple means within the reach of all. Dr. Koch's Consumption Cure is also discussed. These are the contents of the January paper, with its finer paper, wider pages, and profuse illustrations shows what a charming folio of a year's subscription to this admirable periodical will prove. The steel engraving, Her Feetie Steps, is a picture worth framing, and The First Dancin' Lesson is discussed by Dr. E. B. Rieu, and other articles of superior interest, long and short, illustrating the ending of Tolstoy's story, Work while you have the Light.

Directed by J. R. Pellon, 25 Bond Street, New York. Terms, $5 per year; single numbers, 45 cents; retail subscription for 3 months, 85. Eclectic and any Magazine, 85.

One of the most beautiful frontispieces ever produced in an American magazine, appears in the January number of the COSMOPOLITAN. It is a reproduction in colors of Francis Flanneg's famous picture The Cake Seller, and can scarcely be distinguished from the imported photographic which is exhibited in the dealers' windows, at the price of $7 a copy. It is one of the most charming of subjects, and is well worth framing and preservation. The Cosmopolitan has become noted of late for its frontispieces and this very much exceeds all previous efforts.

The January number of the NEW ENGLAND MAGAZINE is its Christmas number. Captains-Rolls', F. R. Gosse, Christmas simply exquisite. The two large fashion sheets display the newest walking, skating and other out-door costumes. Scenes in Norway is a most interesting paper, well illustrated. Miss M. Q. McNeill and begins a novel, in which she introduces a novel, to be extremely powerful. Clarence M. Boutelle contributes A Man's Wish. Jean de la Fontaine's Le Chevalier de la mort is a story of Severes is one of Miss Loring's most literary. The Harper's, Revol, by Emma L. Thomas, will delight the children with its rhymed fun and its series of delicious pictures. The Girl of the Year, by the Newport Hospital Superintendent, ought to be read by every mother. These are but a few of the magazine's attractions. Peterson is evidently determined to make its anniversary year a triumph. Terms $2.00 a year with large reductions to clubs. Address Peterson's Magazine, Philadelphia.

should call at once on

The Cosmopolitan ran up from a 15,000 edition at the close of last year to 100,000 copies, December, 1930. This remarkable increase has kept pace with the change in the character of the names which appear upon its table of contents. Among those for January are Mrs. V. von Ronschauer-Cruger, Frank Dempster Sherman, Henry George, William H. Edwards, John H. Borthen, Edward Everett Hale, Gertrude Atherton, Marjant Hilsant John J. Beckel, Otto von Guericke, Elizabeth Bland, probably as strong a collection of names as ever appeared in any of our country.

The number contained in list of two parts Mrs. V. von Ronschauer-Cruger's novel, "The People's Palace," is a masterpiece which have read is the best of her work. The next article in importance is from the pen of the distinguished English writer, John Galsworthy, "The People's Palace in London. The clever story, Don Grondas, is illustrated in a novel manner, the well-known author, D. H. Lawrence and Miss Hargred, Hargred, Henry W. Longfellow; The Hermit of Cranberry Island, William Hale; In Trinity Church, Walter Littlefield; The Bells, Edgar A. Poe; The Case of Parson Hewlett, Kate Ripston Clark; The Watch of the Lioness, William H. Todd; Glove-Box, Clinton Sprollard; A Tradition of the Androsengog, Albert S. Cox; Above the Tides, Gaylecock; Harian H. Ballard; The story of a Wall-fower, Dorothy Prentiss; Music Land, Hamlin Garland; The People's Palace, William H. Todd; Verestiching, Annie Elliot; Futherford, Zella Cooke; A Descendant of History, William H. Todd; The People's Palace of Historical Writing in America, J. F. Jameson, Ph.D.; Alamy George's Story, Mrs. M. B. Burdett; The Future of the New England Country, Symposium, John D. Long, George B. Loring, Rev. Samuel D. Dyer, Rev. George W. Dyer, Editors' Table, Ombuds. Published 88 Federal

8 Smith Block

And examine the large stock in the which is all marked down to a price which will sure to buy at. The advertisement Boston firms that we will not more and call.

We can now attend to all Par and Training Garments at Short rates.

GRATEFUL-COMFORT

[illegible]

THE SKIN.

Is an important factor in keeping good health; it does not set in the way intended by nature, its functions are performed by other organs—the kidneys and the lungs; and the result is a breakdown of general health.

Swift's Specific

Is the remedy of nature to stimulate the skin to proper action. It never fails in this, and always accomplishes the purpose.

Send for our treatise on the Blood and Skin Diseases.

SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Merchants Insurance Company.

The annual meeting of the Merchants Insurance Company will be held at their office in Boston on Tuesday, January 12, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the choice of Directors and the transaction of such other business as may legally come before them.

Wm. H. Snow, Secretary.

Boston, January 10, 1911.

For a Tisored Liver. Try BEEHIVE'S PILLS. 25c's. a Box. OF ALL DRUGGISTS.

We've heard of a woman who said she'd walk five miles to get a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription if she couldn't get it without. That woman had tried it. And it's a medicine which makes itself felt in toting up the system and correcting irregularities as soon as its use is begun.

Go to your drug store, pay a dollar, get a bottle and try it—try a second, a third if necessary. Before the third one's been taken you'll know that there's a remedy to help you. Then you'll keep on and a cure'll come.

But if you shouldn't feel the help, should be disappointed in the results—you'll find a guarantee printed on the bottle wrapper that'll get your money back for you.

How many women are there who'd rather have the money than health? And "Favorite Prescription" produces health. Wonder is that there's a woman willing to suffer when there's a guaranteed remedy in the nearest drug store.

Dr. Pierce's Pills regulate the Stomach, Liver and Bowels. Mild and effective.

HARLOW'S DRUG STORE

Hot Water Bags.
Rubber Sheeting.
Rubber Cushions.
Rubber Syringes.
Rubber Tubing.

And all sorts of Rubber Requisites for the surgeon or sick room.

N. S. HARLOW. 4 Smith Block.

REMOVAL.

Having moved our office to this city, we have removed our business entirely from Worcester, Mass., where we have been for many years. We have taken the opportunity to thank our friends and business associates for the many favors and courtesies extended to us during our stay in Worcester. We have also taken the opportunity to thank our friends and business associates for the many favors and courtesies extended to us during our stay in Worcester.

FINANCIAL

Mr. F. F. PAUL, of BOSTON, MASS., representing the leading and well known house of STEINWAY & SONS, BOSTON.

STEINWAY & SONS, BOSTON.

Manufacturers of the celebrated piano.

STEINWAY & SONS, BOSTON.

For a Short Time Only.

where they will have on exhibition an assortment of STEINWAY & SONS and other first class pianos.

The public are cordially invited to call and inspect these fine instruments. The exhibition at the Bazaar Exchange for a short time only.

These pianos have the latest and most improved features and are given up in the finest display of the kind ever seen in this city.

Liberal allowances made for old pianos in exchange for new ones.

Believes given with the greatest pleasure by calling or addressing at:

STEINWAY & SONS

100 N. BOSTON ST., BOSTON.

If you have a GOLD or COUGH, acute or chronic, CONSUMPTION, ST. LEUCIS OF PURE COD LIVER OIL AND HYPOPHOSPHITE OF LIME AND SODA.

DR. McGUIRE'S ORANGE BLOSSOM.

A cure for all kinds of coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, and all other respiratory diseases.

It is a powerful expectorant and soothes the inflamed membrane of the throat.

It is a powerful expectorant and soothes the inflamed membrane of the throat.

It is a powerful expectorant and soothes the inflamed membrane of the throat.

It is a powerful expectorant and soothes the inflamed membrane of the throat.

It is a powerful expectorant and soothes the inflamed membrane of the throat.

NEW YORK BOY CHOIR.

Most of the Episcopal Churches NOW EMPLOY THEM.

Enough Boys Are Hand to Secure—Committee Recommends Securing Before the Trained Choir Is Ready to Sing.

Boy choirs are now an established feature of worship in a majority of Episcopal churches in this city, but few members of congregations are aware of the value of the work of the choir beyond that gained as listeners. The search for singers, the teachers' rehearsal and the many hindrances to the successful maintenance of a vested choir are all of right.

Before the existence of a general demand for boys with good voices, an organization was formed by a group of young gentlemen, cannot be too candid about your associates. Contact with such canaille as this must dole you just as much as a punch. Now, Maj. Kenyon, how in pitch. Break the word, and having conveyed to the young men a distinct sense of rebuke, Col. Morris abruptly intimated his desire that nothing further should be said.

So long as he came to transfer his attention to Maj. Kenyon the commander could of course prevent further remonstrance; but as Mr. Morris had seen to it that the young men were in his own defense, and as the colonel knew very well that he had had been fair to him, since Hearn's character had been most exemplified since his joining the regiment, his better nature told him that he ought in further words to let the young fellow down easily, as the army expression goes. For reasons of his own Col. Morris did not wish to do this, however, in presence of the infantry major, his second in command. No sooner had he finished his inquiries than he turned to Mr. Hearn again.

Col. Morris had a right to say that any reason exists for that man's threats, only that I consider it most unfortunate that you or any young officer should ever put his hand in the power of that class of people.

Hearn would have retorted, but for a moment he could not find words at once respectful and convincing. The colonel having delivered this final volley from his entire line now promptly retired before the other side could rally, and as though covered by the smoke of his own fire, trumpeted away across the parade, leaving the two officers alone.

After this, the orderly, with hand to cap, sprang briskly past the pair and stalked away in the wake of his own trumpeting commander.

At last Kenyon spoke: "Come, Hearn, when you're as old as I am you'll not fret yourself over glittering generalities like that. Every colonel, I suppose, is full of war and military maxims, and must shut off occasionally. I'll be just as full, no doubt, if I live to be a colonel. It has taken me thirty years to get out of my own pay duty, and the Lord only knows how long it will be before I can swap this gold leaf for the silver. Come along, Maj. I'm going to Lane's to mention to him the incident of this evening, and to tell him nothing like the women folk to help one out of the groups. There they are on the piazza now—the women, the groups. And by the powers, you've come young Lee in the morning, to ask Miss Marshall to play a canter."

"But, Hearn, look here: 'I can't go now. I'm all upset by this thing, Major. By heaven, it's not enough to make a man swear, that's a low class of thing, come into his daily life and poison the ears of his friends and associates with slander and innuendo, and that I have to listen in silence to such rebuke as the colonel gave me!'"

"Well, that's what you get for being in the army, my boy. Three days ago you were taking issue with me at Lane's because I said I had no right to live over again the army was the very last profession I'd ask in this country, and you thought you loved it. Here's Lane, now," he continued, as the gray eyed captain strode up and laid his hand kindly on the young officer's shoulder.

"I'm trying to pull Hearn out of the groups, Lane. Hand him along with us, he'll be doing something useful."

"You remember how enthusiastic he was three days ago—loved his profession, would rather be a soldier than a milway magnate, wouldn't swap his commission for a million of dollars, and now he's being used by the army as a tool to do the bidding of a few chaps who are not his friends."

And between them, half laughing, half sympathetic, the two officers conveyed their junior toward the shaded veranda where very serious figures sat. Miss Marshall and other ladies busy with their needlework and probable gossip. Miss Wharton was of the party, and wore two of those collars.

She had noted the colonel's solitary figure as he trumpeted across the parade, and was quick to see the two officers coming along the gravel walk. Mrs. Lane half rose and smilingly greeted them.

"You're late," she said, "but I'm glad to see you. Forgive me, but I was raised in the knowledge and salutations exchanged, but the trio hung about the major by this time was talking vehemently. Lane was looking grave and dignified. The same perplexed expression was on his face that had been noted at the breakfast table when reading that letter just before Miss Marshall's entrance the day before. Hearn's face was clouded.

"How can they encourage Maj. Kenyon to be dilating on his pet hobby?" he petulant exclaimed Mrs. Graves. "He was clear in the matter, and it was just before I left that I was discharged by his own lawyer, who is now showing and that's the end of it."

"There is no hope for them. Do come in here out of the hot sun, and let me see you. You can lounge all you like here just as well. But Kenyon paid no attention to his fair comrade of the infantry. For years the women of the—th foot had made common cause against him despite the fact that he was one of their most devoted admirers. When Mrs. Lane again called to them to come on the veranda, however, the captain calmly took his two friends by the elbows and escorted them through the gate. Another moment and the ladies were settling back in their seats, and the major had the floor.

"Yes, Mrs. Lane, I am a crank, as my good friend Mrs. Graves has doubtless told you; I have reason to be, and the crank's wound up today. Your husband and I have been combining our views about the desirability of the army as a vocation, and I have your pardon, Miss Marshall, for talking shop."

"I'm deeply interested, Maj. Kenyon," responded the young lady. "Do you beg of you?"

"Well, my views are founded on long experience, and not the very pleasantest. I may say that after years of reflection—that the more a man knows of his profession, the better a soldier he is, the more jealous of the honor and reputation of his cloth, the less can he afford to take a position in the army."

United States. Why? Why, because the great mass of the people have no conception whatever of the duties that devolve upon us, of the life we lead, of the trials we encounter."

"You know I met you in the post office the other day?" he queried.

"And you introduced me to a friend of yours?"

"Well, I hadn't known him very long, but I was introduced to him by a mutual friend."

"Of course, that's why I introduced him to you. I was sure you would get on well."

"An old friend of mine, I am sure, and I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

NEW YORK BOY CHOIR.

Most of the Episcopal Churches NOW EMPLOY THEM.

Enough Boys Are Hand to Secure—Committee Recommends Securing Before the Trained Choir Is Ready to Sing.

Boy choirs are now an established feature of worship in a majority of Episcopal churches in this city, but few members of congregations are aware of the value of the work of the choir beyond that gained as listeners. The search for singers, the teachers' rehearsal and the many hindrances to the successful maintenance of a vested choir are all of right.

Before the existence of a general demand for boys with good voices, an organization was formed by a group of young gentlemen, cannot be too candid about your associates. Contact with such canaille as this must dole you just as much as a punch. Now, Maj. Kenyon, how in pitch. Break the word, and having conveyed to the young men a distinct sense of rebuke, Col. Morris abruptly intimated his desire that nothing further should be said.

So long as he came to transfer his attention to Maj. Kenyon the commander could of course prevent further remonstrance; but as Mr. Morris had seen to it that the young men were in his own defense, and as the colonel knew very well that he had had been fair to him, since Hearn's character had been most exemplified since his joining the regiment, his better nature told him that he ought in further words to let the young fellow down easily, as the army expression goes. For reasons of his own Col. Morris did not wish to do this, however, in presence of the infantry major, his second in command. No sooner had he finished his inquiries than he turned to Mr. Hearn again.

Col. Morris had a right to say that any reason exists for that man's threats, only that I consider it most unfortunate that you or any young officer should ever put his hand in the power of that class of people.

Hearn would have retorted, but for a moment he could not find words at once respectful and convincing. The colonel having delivered this final volley from his entire line now promptly retired before the other side could rally, and as though covered by the smoke of his own fire, trumpeted away across the parade, leaving the two officers alone.

After this, the orderly, with hand to cap, sprang briskly past the pair and stalked away in the wake of his own trumpeting commander.

At last Kenyon spoke: "Come, Hearn, when you're as old as I am you'll not fret yourself over glittering generalities like that. Every colonel, I suppose, is full of war and military maxims, and must shut off occasionally. I'll be just as full, no doubt, if I live to be a colonel. It has taken me thirty years to get out of my own pay duty, and the Lord only knows how long it will be before I can swap this gold leaf for the silver. Come along, Maj. I'm going to Lane's to mention to him the incident of this evening, and to tell him nothing like the women folk to help one out of the groups. There they are on the piazza now—the women, the groups. And by the powers, you've come young Lee in the morning, to ask Miss Marshall to play a canter."

"But, Hearn, look here: 'I can't go now. I'm all upset by this thing, Major. By heaven, it's not enough to make a man swear, that's a low class of thing, come into his daily life and poison the ears of his friends and associates with slander and innuendo, and that I have to listen in silence to such rebuke as the colonel gave me!'"

"Well, that's what you get for being in the army, my boy. Three days ago you were taking issue with me at Lane's because I said I had no right to live over again the army was the very last profession I'd ask in this country, and you thought you loved it. Here's Lane, now," he continued, as the gray eyed captain strode up and laid his hand kindly on the young officer's shoulder.

"I'm trying to pull Hearn out of the groups, Lane. Hand him along with us, he'll be doing something useful."

"You remember how enthusiastic he was three days ago—loved his profession, would rather be a soldier than a milway magnate, wouldn't swap his commission for a million of dollars, and now he's being used by the army as a tool to do the bidding of a few chaps who are not his friends."

And between them, half laughing, half sympathetic, the two officers conveyed their junior toward the shaded veranda where very serious figures sat. Miss Marshall and other ladies busy with their needlework and probable gossip. Miss Wharton was of the party, and wore two of those collars.

She had noted the colonel's solitary figure as he trumpeted across the parade, and was quick to see the two officers coming along the gravel walk. Mrs. Lane half rose and smilingly greeted them.

"You're late," she said, "but I'm glad to see you. Forgive me, but I was raised in the knowledge and salutations exchanged, but the trio hung about the major by this time was talking vehemently. Lane was looking grave and dignified. The same perplexed expression was on his face that had been noted at the breakfast table when reading that letter just before Miss Marshall's entrance the day before. Hearn's face was clouded.

"How can they encourage Maj. Kenyon to be dilating on his pet hobby?" he petulant exclaimed Mrs. Graves. "He was clear in the matter, and it was just before I left that I was discharged by his own lawyer, who is now showing and that's the end of it."

"There is no hope for them. Do come in here out of the hot sun, and let me see you. You can lounge all you like here just as well. But Kenyon paid no attention to his fair comrade of the infantry. For years the women of the—th foot had made common cause against him despite the fact that he was one of their most devoted admirers. When Mrs. Lane again called to them to come on the veranda, however, the captain calmly took his two friends by the elbows and escorted them through the gate. Another moment and the ladies were settling back in their seats, and the major had the floor.

"Yes, Mrs. Lane, I am a crank, as my good friend Mrs. Graves has doubtless told you; I have reason to be, and the crank's wound up today. Your husband and I have been combining our views about the desirability of the army as a vocation, and I have your pardon, Miss Marshall, for talking shop."

"I'm deeply interested, Maj. Kenyon," responded the young lady. "Do you beg of you?"

"Well, my views are founded on long experience, and not the very pleasantest. I may say that after years of reflection—that the more a man knows of his profession, the better a soldier he is, the more jealous of the honor and reputation of his cloth, the less can he afford to take a position in the army."

United States. Why? Why, because the great mass of the people have no conception whatever of the duties that devolve upon us, of the life we lead, of the trials we encounter."

"You know I met you in the post office the other day?" he queried.

"And you introduced me to a friend of yours?"

"Well, I hadn't known him very long, but I was introduced to him by a mutual friend."

"Of course, that's why I introduced him to you. I was sure you would get on well."

"An old friend of mine, I am sure, and I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

NEW YORK BOY CHOIR.

Most of the Episcopal Churches NOW EMPLOY THEM.

Enough Boys Are Hand to Secure—Committee Recommends Securing Before the Trained Choir Is Ready to Sing.

Boy choirs are now an established feature of worship in a majority of Episcopal churches in this city, but few members of congregations are aware of the value of the work of the choir beyond that gained as listeners. The search for singers, the teachers' rehearsal and the many hindrances to the successful maintenance of a vested choir are all of right.

Before the existence of a general demand for boys with good voices, an organization was formed by a group of young gentlemen, cannot be too candid about your associates. Contact with such canaille as this must dole you just as much as a punch. Now, Maj. Kenyon, how in pitch. Break the word, and having conveyed to the young men a distinct sense of rebuke, Col. Morris abruptly intimated his desire that nothing further should be said.

So long as he came to transfer his attention to Maj. Kenyon the commander could of course prevent further remonstrance; but as Mr. Morris had seen to it that the young men were in his own defense, and as the colonel knew very well that he had had been fair to him, since Hearn's character had been most exemplified since his joining the regiment, his better nature told him that he ought in further words to let the young fellow down easily, as the army expression goes. For reasons of his own Col. Morris did not wish to do this, however, in presence of the infantry major, his second in command. No sooner had he finished his inquiries than he turned to Mr. Hearn again.

Col. Morris had a right to say that any reason exists for that man's threats, only that I consider it most unfortunate that you or any young officer should ever put his hand in the power of that class of people.

Hearn would have retorted, but for a moment he could not find words at once respectful and convincing. The colonel having delivered this final volley from his entire line now promptly retired before the other side could rally, and as though covered by the smoke of his own fire, trumpeted away across the parade, leaving the two officers alone.

After this, the orderly, with hand to cap, sprang briskly past the pair and stalked away in the wake of his own trumpeting commander.

At last Kenyon spoke: "Come, Hearn, when you're as old as I am you'll not fret yourself over glittering generalities like that. Every colonel, I suppose, is full of war and military maxims, and must shut off occasionally. I'll be just as full, no doubt, if I live to be a colonel. It has taken me thirty years to get out of my own pay duty, and the Lord only knows how long it will be before I can swap this gold leaf for the silver. Come along, Maj. I'm going to Lane's to mention to him the incident of this evening, and to tell him nothing like the women folk to help one out of the groups. There they are on the piazza now—the women, the groups. And by the powers, you've come young Lee in the morning, to ask Miss Marshall to play a canter."

"But, Hearn, look here: 'I can't go now. I'm all upset by this thing, Major. By heaven, it's not enough to make a man swear, that's a low class of thing, come into his daily life and poison the ears of his friends and associates with slander and innuendo, and that I have to listen in silence to such rebuke as the colonel gave me!'"

"Well, that's what you get for being in the army, my boy. Three days ago you were taking issue with me at Lane's because I said I had no right to live over again the army was the very last profession I'd ask in this country, and you thought you loved it. Here's Lane, now," he continued, as the gray eyed captain strode up and laid his hand kindly on the young officer's shoulder.

"I'm trying to pull Hearn out of the groups, Lane. Hand him along with us, he'll be doing something useful."

"You remember how enthusiastic he was three days ago—loved his profession, would rather be a soldier than a milway magnate, wouldn't swap his commission for a million of dollars, and now he's being used by the army as a tool to do the bidding of a few chaps who are not his friends."

And between them, half laughing, half sympathetic, the two officers conveyed their junior toward the shaded veranda where very serious figures sat. Miss Marshall and other ladies busy with their needlework and probable gossip. Miss Wharton was of the party, and wore two of those collars.

She had noted the colonel's solitary figure as he trumpeted across the parade, and was quick to see the two officers coming along the gravel walk. Mrs. Lane half rose and smilingly greeted them.

"You're late," she said, "but I'm glad to see you. Forgive me, but I was raised in the knowledge and salutations exchanged, but the trio hung about the major by this time was talking vehemently. Lane was looking grave and dignified. The same perplexed expression was on his face that had been noted at the breakfast table when reading that letter just before Miss Marshall's entrance the day before. Hearn's face was clouded.

"How can they encourage Maj. Kenyon to be dilating on his pet hobby?" he petulant exclaimed Mrs. Graves. "He was clear in the matter, and it was just before I left that I was discharged by his own lawyer, who is now showing and that's the end of it."

"There is no hope for them. Do come in here out of the hot sun, and let me see you. You can lounge all you like here just as well. But Kenyon paid no attention to his fair comrade of the infantry. For years the women of the—th foot had made common cause against him despite the fact that he was one of their most devoted admirers. When Mrs. Lane again called to them to come on the veranda, however, the captain calmly took his two friends by the elbows and escorted them through the gate. Another moment and the ladies were settling back in their seats, and the major had the floor.

"Yes, Mrs. Lane, I am a crank, as my good friend Mrs. Graves has doubtless told you; I have reason to be, and the crank's wound up today. Your husband and I have been combining our views about the desirability of the army as a vocation, and I have your pardon, Miss Marshall, for talking shop."

"I'm deeply interested, Maj. Kenyon," responded the young lady. "Do you beg of you?"

"Well, my views are founded on long experience, and not the very pleasantest. I may say that after years of reflection—that the more a man knows of his profession, the better a soldier he is, the more jealous of the honor and reputation of his cloth, the less can he afford to take a position in the army."

United States. Why? Why, because the great mass of the people have no conception whatever of the duties that devolve upon us, of the life we lead, of the trials we encounter."

"You know I met you in the post office the other day?" he queried.

"And you introduced me to a friend of yours?"

"Well, I hadn't known him very long, but I was introduced to him by a mutual friend."

"Of course, that's why I introduced him to you. I was sure you would get on well."

"An old friend of mine, I am sure, and I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

"I am sure you will get on well with him."

NEW YORK BOY CHOIR.

Most of the Episcopal Churches NOW EMPLOY THEM.

Enough Boys Are Hand to Secure—Committee Recommends Securing Before the Trained Choir Is Ready to Sing